

INTENSIVE SUMMER COURSE ON ORTHODOX SPIRITUALITY

July 3 to 16, 2011

The Orthodox/Eastern Christian Studies Programme at Trinity College (University of Toronto) offers a unique opportunity to study Orthodox spirituality in a peaceful and prayerful rural setting. This is an opportunity both to learn and to live theology with your mind, heart, and body in a context of community living. This two week residential course may be taken for credit or audited. Participation in morning and evening prayer in the Orthodox tradition will be part of the learning experience.

Fresco of the Temptation of Christ
(photo: Michel Quenot)

Course: TRH 2451H Orthodox “Pastoralia” 1: Fundamentals of Orthodox Spirituality. Devotional, monastic and pastoral themes and writings to the fourteenth century, with emphasis on the great classics of Christian spirituality. More details: Toronto School of Theology website.

Instructor: Dr Paul Ladouceur, Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Divinity, Trinity College, and Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Theology, University of Sherbrooke.

Location: St Mary of Egypt Refuge, Madoc, Ontario, Canada (45 km north of Belleville).
Web sites: www.stmarysrefuge.org // www.pagesorthodoxes.net/ressources/stmaryofegyptrefuge.htm.

Fees: Tuition (for credit or audit) plus residential fee $850.00 (accommodation and all meals).

St Mary of Egypt Refuge offers shelter, warmth and hope for persons and families in need. Accommodations are simple; students will share bedrooms and bathrooms and participate in some household tasks. Minimum 4 students; maximum 8 students.

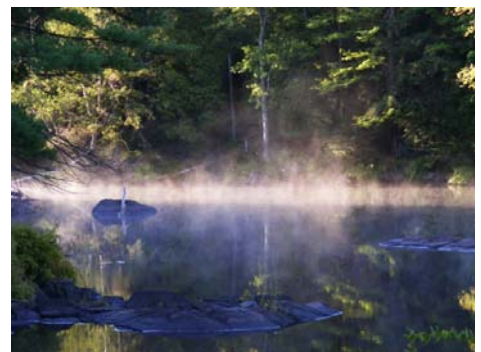

Lunch on the Refuge porch

Further information or registration:

Faculty of Divinity,
Trinity College
416-978-2133
divinity@trinity.utoronto

For information on the Refuge:

info@stmarysrefuge.org

River behind the Refuge